CUARTO PISO

A man in a dark blue long-sleeved shirt and dark pants is performing a hula hoop trick, holding a pink and blue hoop with both hands. He is standing in the center of a large, rectangular hall. A large group of children, mostly girls, are sitting on the floor in a circle around him, watching the performance. Some children are wearing face masks. In the background, there are more people, including adults and children, some standing and some sitting. The room is decorated with colorful balloons (red, yellow, green, white) and string banners hanging from the ceiling. The ceiling has a grid pattern and several cylindrical pendant lights. The walls are white, and the floor is made of large, light-colored tiles. The overall atmosphere is festive and educational.

PRIMER PISO

An aerial night photograph of a multi-story building with a flat roof and numerous windows, some of which are illuminated from within. The building is situated on a street corner. A large, white, stylized logo, resembling a capital 'T' with a square at its top left, is superimposed over the building. To the right of the logo, the text 'Corporación Cultural Municipal Chillán' is written in a white, sans-serif font. The surrounding area includes a street with lane markings, sidewalks, and some trees. The overall scene is dark, with the primary light sources being the building's interior lights and the streetlights.
